

Clay Young

CEO, Ming Solar

Clay lives in Boise, Idaho with his wife and three kids and is the co-founder and CEO of Ming Solar. Clay is a 22 year veteran of the Information Technology space and successful entrepreneur. He is a practiced business leader with general business management, mergers and acquisition, sales, marketing, product management and product development experience. Clay has worked in the IT industry throughout his career and has developed a diverse skill set. Not only has he managed major initiatives at both Hewlett-Packard and Microsoft, he founded the highly successful ProClarity Corporation (Fast 100, Software 100, Inc 100) which Microsoft acquired in 2006. Prior to that he was at Extended Systems where he launched their highest-growth product lines and helped stage the company for a successful IPO. Clay has a BA in Marketing and an MBA from Boise State University.